Anti-Harassment Policy

Nimbus Technologies Pvt. Ltd. · Version 2026 · Effective 1 January 2026

Sample document for testing. Nimbus Technologies is a fictional company.

1. Purpose and Scope

Nimbus Technologies is committed to a workplace free from harassment and discrimination. This policy applies to all employees, contract staff, interns, consultants and visitors, in the office, at client sites, during official travel, at company events and in online communication.

2. What Counts as Harassment

Sexual harassment includes unwelcome physical contact or advances, requests for sexual favours, sexually coloured remarks, showing pornography, and any other unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, whether verbal, written, physical or online.

Workplace harassment also includes bullying, threats, insults or repeated humiliation, and offensive comments based on gender, religion, caste, disability, age, region or sexual orientation.

3. Internal Committee

The company has an Internal Committee (IC) to receive and inquire into complaints of sexual harassment. It is chaired by a senior woman employee, has at least half its members women, and includes one external member from an organisation working on women's issues.

The names and contact details of the IC members are listed on the HR portal and on notice boards in every office. Other harassment complaints are handled by the HR business partner.

4. How to Raise a Complaint

A complaint can be made in writing to any IC member or by email to ic@nimbustech.example. If the person cannot write the complaint, an IC member will help write it down.

A complaint should be made within 3 months of the incident, or of the last incident in a series. The IC may extend this by a further 3 months if there were reasons that prevented an earlier complaint.

Employees may also first speak informally to their manager or HR business partner, but a formal inquiry starts only on a written complaint.

5. Inquiry Process

On request of the complainant, the IC may first try to settle the matter through conciliation, but no money settlement is allowed.

Otherwise the IC conducts an inquiry, hears both sides and witnesses, and completes it within 90 days of the complaint. The IC's report is given within 10 days of completing the inquiry, and management acts on it within 60 days.

During the inquiry, the complainant may ask for interim relief such as a transfer, paid leave of up to 3 months, or a change of reporting line.

6. Confidentiality

The identity of the complainant, the respondent and witnesses, and the details of the inquiry are kept confidential and are shared only with those who need to know. Breaching confidentiality is itself a disciplinary offence.

7. No Retaliation

No one may be punished, threatened or treated unfavourably for making a complaint in good faith or for taking part in an inquiry. Retaliation is treated as misconduct.

A complaint that is found to be knowingly false or malicious may lead to action against the complainant. A complaint that cannot be proven is not, by itself, a false complaint.

8. Consequences

Depending on the seriousness, action may include a written warning, withholding of promotion or increment, counselling, transfer, or termination of employment. The IC may also recommend compensation to be paid by the respondent.
